Harland Bloland : Creating The Council For Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Creating The Council For Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA):

Harland G. Bloland, in this new title from the American Council on Education (ACE)/Oryx Press Series on Higher Education, chronicles his rare, insider experiences with the players, processes, and history involved in creating the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA). Bloland was present at the meetings of the National Policy Board and the Presidents Work Group as they set the parameters for the creation of CHEA, the crucial entity that recognizes accrediting agencies for colleges and universities across the United States. Reviewing the past accrediting oversight of FRACHE, NCA, COPA, and CORPA, and then following the progress of CHEA through its first year and attending its board meetings, Bloland has constructed a unique, complete history of the accrediting process.

About the Author HARLAND G. BLOLAND is Professor Emeritus at the University of Miami and an active member of the Association for the Study of Higher Education.
