As a practitioner (in the field of mergers and acquisitions), I found the first half of the book a good refresher of basic negotiation theory. The second half, however, was the meat on the bone. Excellent content on the roles of process setters / takers, setup, rearranging and shut down moves. Will enable readers to think beyond their conventional wisdom in dealing with same-side-of-table negotiations.Would recommend this book to beginners / practitioners alike.The only caveat is that this is not to be considered light reading. You will need to follow the examples carefully, perhaps even with pen and paper. Follows a text-book / case study type approach peppered with theory. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Wow Real Deal Strategic Brilliance on a page to be absorbed! By Customer Written brilliantly.. Deep concepts and strategies if you wish to improve your strategic thought It is essential.. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By PETER HEADLEY Very informative, a tremendous asset.

“Packed with transformative insights, Dealmaking will help a new generation of business leaders get to yes.” — William Ury, coauthor of Getting to Yes Informed by meticulous research, field experience, and classroom-tested strategies, Dealmaking offers essential insights for anyone involved in buying or selling everything from cars to corporations. Leading business scholar Guhan Subramanian provides a lively tour of both negotiation and auction theory, then takes an in-depth look at his own hybrid theory, outlining three specific strategies readers can use in complex dealmaking situations. Along the way, he examines case studies as diverse as buying a house, haggling over the rights to a TV show, and participating in the auction of a multimillion-dollar company. Based on broad research and detailed case studies, Dealmaking brings together negotiation and auction strategies for the first time, providing the jargon-free, empirically sound advice professionals need to close the deal. Originally published in hardcover under the title Negotiauctions.

This brilliant book exposes the connections between negotiations and auctions, and will be indispensable for every professional involved in dealmaking. --Robert Mnookin, author of Beyond Winning About the Author Guhan Subramanian, the Joseph Flom Professor of Law and Business at the Harvard Law School and the Douglas Weaver Professor of Business Law at the Harvard Business School, is the first person in the history of Harvard to hold tenured appointments at both schools. He lives in Newton, Massachusetts.
