It made me take a deep look at myself and what I want from life. The realisation was profound...I am the only person that is holding me back, no one else is responsible. The book is very well written and the message flowed eloquently from beginning to end. It was so personal, it felt like Paul was in the room reading to me. Once you read the book, you realise that we are not alone in this world. We need to make the most of what talents we have and embrace them, not run away from them. "Evolve" has certainly changed my outlook on life both personally and, in business. Thanks Paul.

By Eibhlin Johnston. I couldn't wait to get this book and the insights into the mind of Paul Davis! I always knew he was an excellent business mentor and personal associate; but now I know the secrets of his successful approach and understand how he works. It's a subtle approach (with just enough force). This book is the same. It's a keeper book; one to dip into over and over again. I've just finished it and need to start all over again. So many people 'plod' through life and business with their own personal A to Z of excuses for not succeeding and for living uninspired lives without purpose. Evolve seems to cut through the excuses with ease. It also adds just enough spirituality to show us how to make the changes necessary to be in the flow of life. Read it and don't look back. Look forward to a purposeful and fulfilled life.

Successful business entrepreneurs hold spirituality as a core element of themselves when doing business. The most successful people in business don't have money as their primary focus or motivation: they focus on being the best they can be in their industry and being of service to their employees, customers, society and to a greater purpose. The more you act on your true self, the more you will be living a life of authenticity and success in the true sense, becoming the person God intended you to be. The EVOLVE principles; Experience who you truly are; Vision is key; Open up to your purpose; Leadership of the future; Value your intuition; Everyday success habits show you how to develop a spiritual blueprint for business success.

Paul Davis's EVOLVE reminds us that successful businesses are those that make a profit while at the same time bringing benefits to the wider community. To enable employees to 'get up in the morning looking forward to coming to work' is an objective that every business can strive to achieve because, with that spirit, everyone wins, including customers!

Senator Feargal Quinn - President, Superquinn The shocks that markets globally have experienced in the last couple of years have forced large sections of the global economy to re-examine not just the 'nuts and bolts' of their business but also how business is done. Many of Paul's concepts will resonate with readers as elements they bring, or aspire to bring, to their own business lives but this book gives a context and holistic approach which will be invaluable and inspirational. This is a very timely publication.

Ian Talbot - CEO, Chambers Ireland Every thought that we think has a ripple effect throughout the whole world and the conditions of the world. If we become a model of what we would like to see in the world, we'll have a better world. And in life as in business, there are forces of destiny that work in the background, and the power of your soul has an effect on the circumstances that show up in your life. This interplay between destiny and free will means that sometimes destiny has the leading hand, and other times free will has the leading hand. What Paul explains in this book is how you can harness these forces of destiny and the power of your thoughts so as to reach your own success in business and more importantly in life to make this a better world.

Dr David R Hamilton PhD For some unknown reason, during the last decade, many people parked their values at the door of the job and gave in to the call of Mammon. This has led directly to the times of high anxiety we live in now. People are, once again, examining their values. Are the principles we espouse carried through in the practice and behaviours? Paul addresses these questions and comes up with interesting conclusions.
