Life Experience as QuotesBy Rebecca of "Follow your instincts, that's where true wisdom manifests itself." ~Oprah WinfreyThe Quotable Manager is a wonderful collection of high-quality quotes for business managers and anyone seeking to advance in life through wisdom gained by those who have lived through a wide variety of experiences. The quotes are divided into logical chapters: Attitude, leadership, perseverance, patience, managing, trust, faith, fairness, planning, career, success, failure, integrity, initiative, focusing, innovation, self-discipline, communication, effort and change. I love the first two pages where a poem by Rudyard Kipling (1865-1936) immediately presents inspiration. The famous individuals featured in the chapters include: Margaret Thatcher, Winston Churchill, Bill Gates, Albert Einstein, Oprah Winfrey and many more. "You have two choices in life: You can dissolve into the mainstream or you can be distinct. To be distinct, you must be different. To be different, you must strive to be what no one else but you can be." ~Alan Ashley-PittAs I read through this wonderful book I wrote down about 10 quotes I wanted to keep close at hand. There is also a lovely ribbon marker so you can keep your place while reading through this collection of inspiring quotes. This would make a perfect gift for your boss, friends, business leaders and anyone who wants to be more successful.~The Rebecca Review0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. My cup of teaBy ServantofGodMy very positive rating of it is, of course, highly subjective. So, to help your purchase decision, below please find some of my favorite quotes for your reference:-There is no future in any job. The future lies in the man who holds the job. - George CraneThere are no menial jobs, only menial attitude. - William John BennettThere are only 3 colors, 20 digits, and 7 notes; It's what we do with them that's important. - Ruth RossCourage is the first of human qualities because it is the quality which guarantees all others. - Winston ChurchillThe secret of patience is to do something else in the meantime. - Spanish ProverbToday's preparation determines tomorrow's achievement. - UnknownFlatter me, and I may not believe you. Criticize me, and I may not like you. Ignore me, and I may not forgive you. Encourage me, and I may not forget you. - William Arthur WardMost of the successful people I've known are the ones who do more listening than talking. - Bernard BaruchThere is nothing wrong with the men possessing riches. The wrong comes when riches possess men. - Billy Graham1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Great ResourceBy Welch followerIf you ever struggled looking for the perfect quote to emphasize a point or at times look for inspiration in the words of some of our greatest leaders, this is the book for you!!! Not only is this book jammed full of inspirational quotes, but it is organized by topic, so it is a very useable reference book. It also has mini biographies on historical figures who have been a part of world history. It makes a great gift for seasoned leaders or fresh out of school graduates.

A good quote can capture the essence of an idea or teaching and tell it in a few words—concisely and with impact. The Quotable Manager takes simple, meaningful, and easy-to-remember quotes, puts them right at the fingertips of today's busy managers and leaders, and becomes an excellent resource when a thoughtful word is needed. More than 600 quotes are collected from a diverse pool of leaders and historical figures including Thomas Edison, Albert Einstein, Mark Twain, Julius Caesar, Michael Jordan, John Ruskin, Helen Keller, Mother Teresa, Confucius, John Wayne, and more. They offer inspiring advice and wisdom on topics such as attitude, leadership, perseverance, patience, trust, fairness, planning, career, failure, and integrity. Divided into twenty chapters, each begins with an inspiring story or anecdote about a person who has come to exemplify that characteristic. Sample quotes: You may have to fight a battle more than once to win it. Margaret ThatcherNo pessimist ever discovered the secret of the stars, or sailed to an uncharted land, or opened a new doorway for the human spirit. Helen KellerBe a good listener, your ears never get you in trouble. Frank TygerFeeling gratitude and not expressing it is like wrapping a present and not giving it. William Arthur Ward Things turn out best for the people who make the best out of the way things turn out. Art LinkletterIt is not the strongest of the species that survive, nor the most intelligent, but the one most responsive to change. Charles Darwin When you fall in a river, you're no longer a fisherman; you're a swimmer. Gene HillDiscipline is the refining fire by which talent becomes ability. Roy L. SmithThe only man who makes no mistakes is the man who never does anything. Eleanor RooseveltThey may forget what you said, but they will never forget how you made them feel. Carl W. Buechner

From the Inside FlapStart your day with a bang with one of more than 600 simple, meaningful and easy to remember quotes collected from a diverse group of leaders and historical figures including Thomas Edison, Albert Einstein, Mark Twain, Julius Caesar, John Ruskin, Helen Keller, Mother Teresa, Confucius and more. With short quips of motivation and wisdom on topics like integrity, effort, attitude, leadership, trust and many others, The Quotable Manager is sure to have the perfect zinger for those impromptu managerial moments. And when the occasion calls for a little more than a 20-second thought, each chapter opens with an inspiring story or anecdote about a person who has come to exemplify that characteristic, making The Quotable Manager an even handier resource for today's busy managers and leaders. "I am just preparing my impromptu remarks." Integrity

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT, probably the most famous and effective first lady of the twentieth century, was an activist for causes such as the abolition of child labor and the establishment of minimum wage legislation. Eleanor teamed with her husband, Franklin, to support his political efforts, especially after he was paralyzed by polio in 1921. When her husband was elected president of the United States, Eleanor brought with her a wealth of experience on social conditions and sensitivity and compassion for the underprivileged. Her dedication to the job as First Lady was unlike anyone before her. Although her political enemies made her a target, her integrity made her unique and respected by people at all levels. Probably Eleanor's greatest influence was on civil rights and race relations. She confronted her husband and pressured him to sign orders barring discrimination. While traveling in the south, she refused to abide by segregation that required her to sit in the white section of an auditorium, and she publicly resigned from the Daughters of the American Revolution because they barred the famous black singer, Marian Anderson, from their auditorium. Knowing that many institutions did not offer equal opportunity for women, Eleanor held hundreds of press conferences where she permitted only women journalists. This forced news organizations to hire their first female reporters in order to have access to her press conferences. Eleanor Roosevelt was recognized for her integrity, patience, and uncompromising morality. No legacy is so rich as honesty.
